Jazz @ Cookie's episodes now available on YouTube

Speaking of following up on previous stories, it looks like the footage shot for the prospective cable television series Jazz @ Cookie's has finally found a home. As StLJN reported here, here and here, the series was originally created by St. Louis jazz singer Valerie Tichacek and producer Owen Woodard and taped at the local club Cookie's Jazz and More with the idea of airing it on local cable, but after production was completed they ran short of funds to pay for airtime.

Now anyone with a broadband Internet connection can finally see the end result of their work and enjoy the featured interviews and performances from more than a

Tickets now on sale for John Handy's St. Louis debut September 29 & 30

Following up on a story StLJN first broke back in July, veteran jazz saxophonist John Handy will indeed be making his St. Louis debut later this month, though he'll be appearing on different dates than the ones previously announced.

Most of the details from the earlier story still apply, but Handy's St. Louis debut performances now will take place on Friday, September 29 and 30. Joined by vocalist (and show promoter) Ron Wilkinson and Wilkinson's Scratch Quintet, Handy will perform sets at 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. both nights in the ballroom at the Best Western Airport Plaza Hotel, 4530 N. Lindbergh Blvd in Bridgeton. Tickets are $25 each and are on sale now at locations including Vintage Vinyl, Lee J.'s Clothiers, Downtown Music, Afro World, the Lindbergh Bistro, the show's not-for-profit sponsor Hopebuild and through Wilkinson's Scratch Productions
